DECATUR, ILLINOIS.
Friday Evening, Jan. 29.

More than three weeks of the present session of the Illinois legislature have now elapsed, and so far the passage of only one bill through the Senate is the practical result, while the greater part of the session has been spent in buncombe speeches, political resolutions and efforts of the Speaker to thrust down the throats of the Republican his dicta as parliamentary law.

The 14th of March, 1877, will come on Sunday, and by statute the inauguration of the President-elect does not take place until the next day. This fact will give Grant one more day in office than an even four years. He will be a Caesar for twenty four hours in spite of himself.

PRESIDENT GRANT has sent a special message to the Senate urging the necessity of increasing the strength of our coast defenses. This message has had the effect to excite apprehension that there is danger of a foreign war in the immediate future. The President evidently believes that the true policy of the government is, in times of peace to be prepared for war. There is a speck of war in connection with our Spanish relations, but this is not likely to lead to hostilities, as King Alfonso has about all he can attend to at home and in Cuba, without looking to foreign nations for a cause of war. Still, it may be that it is the part of wisdom on the part of our government to be prepared for emergencies.

PROBABLY no man now living in this country has had more extensive or varied experience in public life than Andrew Johnson. After serving several years in both branches of the Tennessee legislature, he was elected a representative in congress and served in that capacity from 1813 to 1833. Then he was chosen governor of Tennessee and served two terms. In 1857 he was elected to the United States Senate and served there till 1862, when he resigned to accept the position of military governor of Tennessee. In April, 1865, by the death of Mr. Lincoln, he became President of the United States. He was sixty-six years old last December, and six years more in the Senate will probably suffice to square his accounts and wind up his political career.

Two of the Democratic papers of our beloved country are still dreadfully mad about the Louisiana muddle. We refer to the New York World and Missouri Caucasian. The latter is, we think, the most vigorous in the expression of its anger. We quote from the latest number, the thrilling passage following:

"Sons of glorious rebel sires! Arise! And, in tones of rattling thunder, that shall shake the very foundation stones of the White House head-bellion's den, and topple down the gigantic dome upon the mad, ruthless liberty-sides of the Capitol, swear by all the heroic memories of the republic, swear by the constitution, swear by him who doeth all things well; swear by everything noble, and sacred, and dear in American story, that Federal usurpation, Presidential outlaws and insolence, and barbarian shoulder-strap State murder, shall end now!"

DURING Ismail Pasha's reign in Egypt, the Suez Canal has been opened and 2,170,000 of Egypt debt absorbed by it, about one thousand miles of railway have been opened, effective posts and telegraphic communications have been organized, large cotton and sugar mills have been put in operation, ports, harbors and light houses have been constructed, and the breakwater and jetties at Alexandria—a most admirable work, costing $1,500,000—nearly completed; paper works, gas works, and water works have been erected, engines and machinery for improved irrigation have been scattered over the country, expeditions for annexation and for the suppression of slavery have been organized, and large schools for the instruction of young Arabs in European languages have been opened both in Alexandria and Cairo.

A CHAP was seen flying down the streets of Granbury, a few days ago, his coat all streaming in the wind, and hisly yelling "police!" "police!" At his heels was a man with a large bowie-knife, lunging at him at a fearful rate. As the pursued would make a pass with the knife, the pursuer would yell out, "Police!" The only policeman in the town was the one with the bowie-knife. The chap had the "police" near him as he wished—Dallas (Texas) Commercial.

In a shop window in Paris is the following announcement: "A fine human skin, taken off whole and tanned in that condition. It is the skin of Alissa, who was the most lovely of the slaves of the Emperor of Morocco. She was only twenty when she died, and her skin was milk white."

HOW MANUFACTURES HELP.

The following, from a recent number of the Peoria Transcript, we commend to our own readers:

There came into our possession, accidentally, a few days ago a statement of the population and business of the city of Evansville, Indiana. Twenty-five years ago that city had a population of 3,235, while Peoria had 5,095. Fifteen years ago it had about 8,000, while Peoria had in the neighborhood of 14,000. Five years ago it had something like 27,000 while Peoria had 23,000. Now Evansville claims 35,000, while the most enthusiastic do not claim for Peoria more than 20,000. We were naturally startled when our attention was attracted to these facts, and we looked for an explanation. Perhaps we are mistaken, but we think we found it in the Evansville report to which we have alluded. That report shows that Evansville has three hundred manufacturing establishments in operation, representing more than a hundred different branches of business. These establishments give employment directly to some five thousand men, and indirectly to several thousand more. Their sales last year were $6,000,000. The great majority of these manufactures were put in operation during the decade between 1860 and 1870. It seems to us that it is a patent fact that they are the agencies which have built up the town.

A paper printed in Richmond, Ind., publishes a letter from Henry Ward Beecher, lately received by the Rev. L. Hughes, of that city, in which the pastor of Plymouth Church gives his views on certain doctrinal points at considerable length. Among other things he says:

I believe that all men are born into imperfection, and that as soon as intelligent action begins they fall into sin, and that no man ever kept the law of God with all his heart and mind, nor even with any single faculty. I believe that all men need a moral revolution, a change of heart, and that such change, while it involves man's own will, is also, and effectually, the result of God's spirit. I believe that the Holy Spirit blesses parental example and teaching, in some cases, so that the children are brought by the Divine Spirit into the Christ life at a very early period, and ever without any conscious change—but, early or late, the human soul does not rise into a spiritual character without the quickening and enlivening influence of God's Spirit. But I believe and teach incessantly that conversion is only change, but not character, and that Christian grace, experience, habits, knowledge, are the results of education in the Divine life; that, upon entering upon a Christian course, every one becomes a scholar of Christ, and, like scholars of human knowledge, learn by the normal use of their faculties; that the whole life is, in the hands of the Divine Spirit, a means of grace. I differ with my brethren of the Evangelical Churches in some details, but more yet in the philosophy by which the facts of religion are to be explained; but I am at hearty agreement with them in the Divinity of Christ, the Trinity, the Sinfulness of Man, the Universal Need of a Change of Heart, of the Holy Spirit as the Efficient Agent in Conversion. I am writing amid the excitements and occupations of a trial which is now going on, and cannot take time for more than a hasty statement.

A TERRIBLE DREAM VERIFIED.

From the Lawrence (Kan.) Standard, Jan. 29.
A very sad occurrence took place at Clinton yesterday morning, the particulars of which we learn from Dr. E. G. Macy, who happened to be near at the time. Mr. James Brooks, who is constable of that township, has a family of nine very promising children. Among them were two little boys, one aged seven and the other five years. Yesterday morning Mr. Brooks was standing by the stove with his children around him. He had a revolver in his pocket, or strapped around him, which by some means became disengaged, and fell. The pistol struck the stove in the fall, and one barrel was discharged, the ball passing through the body of the little five-year-old child and into the body of the other. The ball struck the youngest child near the navel, and, passing through the body, came out near the spinal column, producing death in a short time. After passing through the youngest child, the ball entered the body of the seven-year-old boy above the hip, and passed into the abdomen, where it lodged. The oldest boy may recover, although seriously injured. The ball had not been extracted this morning. The boy that was killed was a remarkably bright little fellow, and the sad accident has overwhelmed the family with distress.

The most remarkable part of this sad affair remains to be told. The night before the accident, the oldest boy, after being put to bed upstairs, awoke in a great fright, and came down stairs. He told his father that a neighbor's boy (calling him by name) had shot him and his little brother, and that his brother died, but he did not. The little fellow was dreaming, but he was so much frightened that he would not go to his bed again, so his father took him in his own bed to pacify him, where he slept the remainder of the night.

How the Resolutions of Censure were Passed.

DEAD LOCK IN THE HOUSE AT WASHINGTON.

CONKLING'S GREAT SPEECH.

Senatorial Balloting.

SPRINGFIELD, January 28.—Another day has been added to the calendar of days that have been a disgrace and burning shame to the State of Illinois.

Speaker Haines, in a great measure, is responsible for the enactment of these disgraceful scenes, but were he not obliged to yield to Democratic party pressure there is but little doubt there would be more decorum, more legislation and some good accomplished by the Twenty-ninth General Assembly. A score or more Democrats are thoroughly disgusted with the proceedings that they may have been able, were it not for the fear of the affect it might have on the party which influences them, to have put at and long before this. But the party is in the throes of dissolution or a new birth, and to save their best judgment, is warped and their ideas of justice lost sight of in the great fight for power.

The row this morning was a continuation of that of yesterday. A series of resolutions were adopted, condemning President Grant and General Sheridan for their acts in the Louisiana trouble. This morning Mr. Dunlap, of Cook, after reading the journal in which he was reported as voting for the resolution, arose in his seat and asked that the journal be corrected. Of course this is a right every member of the general assembly is entitled to, and it was expected there would be no objection to such a reasonable request.

But this privilege met with the most determined opposition from the Democratic side, and the rights of Mr. Dunlap were firmly defended and demanded by the Republicans. Confusion became fearful and the counter-rulings of the Speaker added fuel to the fire, until it seemed as if pandemonium itself had broken loose and taken possession of the hall of legislation, and the same fearful shameful scenes that have before disgraced the Twenty-ninth General Assembly, were re-enacted until the immense crowd of spectators were thoroughly disgusted and ashamed.

It is now asserted, and affidavits will be filed showing that Dunlap, of Cook, and French, of Carroll, who voted no on the fourth resolution are recorded as voting aye. Judge Moses of Scott, is recorded as absent, when he voted no. If this proves to be the case the fourth resolution was lost, and if so, a gross fraud has been perpetrated upon the people of Illinois.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.
SENATE.

At the expiration of the morning hour, the Louisiana discussion was resumed, and Mr. Conkling took the floor. The galleries were crowded with spectators and members.

Conkling said the time had come when silence only prolongs the wrangle. He then referred to the President's message, which he said should have ended the discussion by its manifest. Thurman, who occupied the time of the Senate for hours yesterday, didn't take to do with the Louisiana question, though he was the recognized leader of the Democratic party. It had been the gospel of the Democrats to keep up a fervent since reconstruction began, and it was their policy to do this till the nation demanded a change of any kind. He affirmed that Warmoth, leader of the opposition, made the election of 1872 a fraud. He was to have carried the State for Greeley, and therefore the election in Louisiana was an organized fraud. His control of election machinery was worth twenty thousand votes. Congress, the Court, and the President had decided against McCreary. The President was not responsible for the doings in New Orleans on the 4th. The President only heard of them. He any other citizen through the papers. Mr. Conkling then stated the President's reason for sending General Sheridan south, which was the suffer for the doings in New Orleans. Had the army been withdrawn from New Orleans the President would have been openly in league with the murderers and traitors. He referred to the whisky riot in Western Pennsylvania, when Washington quelled the riot with 15,000 men. The White Leaguers had seized the United States arms in September, and though not on command to lay them down had not complied. He arraigned Schurz for declaring he would speaking with calmness and impartiality, and then condemning the President without stint and without knowledge. He justified the position taken by Sheridan, although unfortunately his advice could not legally be followed out.

Mr. Conkling then argued that it was the encou agent which the Democrats South received from the North that had caused these outrages. Northern Democrats must no longer seek to deter them by denouncing laws of Congress. He next referred to the recent outbreak in the Penitentiary at Lincoln, Neb., and the call of the Governor for Federal troops from Omaha, which was instantly obeyed. This was a parallel case.

Mr. Thurman wanted to know where the law was to punish the revolting of convicts.

Mr. Conkling said he was glad even the convicts in the Nebraska Penitentiary were not without somebody to speak for them. Why had none of those who supported the temple of liberty brought forward a resolution in regard to the use of the troops at Lincoln? There has not even been a spasm of virtue here in regard to it.

Without concluding the argument Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.
Roll call, on dilatory motions, to prevent consideration of the civil rights bill, still continues, with no probability of any compromise. The House is well filled—190 voted on the last call. The Chair stated in answer to questions from Mr. McCrary, that it would not be in order to amend the rules and break the dead-lock until Monday morning. Mr. McCrary gave notice that he would submit a motion to suspend the rules till Monday.

Mr. Randall made a point of order that such notice be given now. Here there were loud calls for the regular order, and the roll call was continued. This indicates the policy of the majority to be to renew next Monday the motion which was made and defeated last Monday to amend the rules so as to prohibit for the remainder of this session the Speaker from entertaining any dilatory motion whenever public measures are before the House. Under the operation of such rule the passage of the civil rights bill and other measures having the support of a majority of the members would be plain sailing.

Calling the roll on dilatory motions proceeded without variation, and, although the members generally appear to be pretty thoroughly wearied out and disgusted, it is not unlikely that the proceedings may run all through to-night. The last call showed the presence of 150 members.

CONCORD, N. H. January 28.—The Republican State Committee was in session yesterday, and sent the following dispatch to Speaker Blaine:

The Republican State Committee in convention assembled send greetings to the true Republicans in Congress of the United States who stand by the civil rights bill and Grant, Sheridan and Sherman in their efforts to protect the constitutional rights of every citizen of the republic, and the representatives of New Hampshire will stand by you on the second Tuesday of March.

MILWAUKEE, January 28.—The first ballot in the joint convention today resulted as follows: Carpenter, 59; Briggs, 52; Cole, 18; Dixon, Rublee and Dunn 1 each.

The third ballot was taken with substantially the same result. An effort was made to night to induce the Democrats to unite with the bolters on Cole, but it failed, and the coalition now seems improbable. The confidence of Carpenter's friends seems to be unshaken.

CINCINNATI, January 28.—An Enquirer Charleston, W. Va., special says the Senatorial ballot in joint session of the Legislature today resulted as follows: Camden, 27; Walker, 21; Brannon, 14; Price, 10; Caperton, 3; scattering, 13.

The friends of the two leading candidates are firm, and declare their purpose to remain steadfast. Result: Walker, 24; Camden, 20; Price, 12; Brannon, 12; Caperton, 13.

Bleeding from Lungs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption—A Wonderful Cure.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13, 1874.
R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.
DEAR SIR—I had suffered from Catarrh in an aggravated form for about twelve years, and for several years from Bronchitis trouble. Tried many doctors and things with little benefit. In May, '73, becoming nearly worn out with excessive editorial labors on a paper in New York City, I was attacked with Bronchitis in a severe form, suffering almost a total loss of voice. I returned home feverish, but had been home only two weeks when I was completely prostrated with Hemorrhage from the lungs, having four severe bleedings within two weeks, and first three inside of nine days. In the September following I improved sufficiently to be able to be about, though in a very feeble state. My Bronchitis trouble remained, and the Catarrh was tenfold worse than before. Every effort for relief seemed fruitless. I secured the Golden Medical Discovery, and commenced the treatment. I continued in this feeble state, raising blood almost daily until about the first of March, '74, when I became so bad as to be entirely confined to the house. A friend suggested your remedies. But I felt much better, my appetite improved, and I gained in strength and flesh. In three months every vestige of the Catarrh was gone, the Bronchitis had nearly disappeared, had no cough whatever and had entirely ceased to raise blood, and contrary to the expectation of some of my friends, the cure has remained permanent. I have had no more Hemorrhages from the lungs, and am entirely free from Catarrh, from which I had feared to die, and so long. The debt of gratitude I owe for the blessing I have received at your hands, knows no bounds. I am thoroughly satisfied, from my experience, that your medicines will master the worst forms of that distressing complaint, as well as throat and Lung Diseases. I have recommended them to very many and shall ever speak in their praise.

Gratefully yours,

The Grand Masquerade Ball given by the members of the Concordia Club at their hall, last night, was well attended, and there was a beautiful display of all sorts of masques. Dancing which was commenced at a very early hour, was kept up until 4 o'clock this morning, and all present pronounced the affair one of the most enjoyable of the season. We are glad to learn that the affair was a success in every way, as well as socially.

Yesterday afternoon Stephen Madden went before Justice Hawkins and complained against Ira Franklin Bouns, charging him with an assault. A warrant was sworn out against Bouns, and he was taken before Justice H. for trial.

Both parties in the case employed attorneys, and the evidence was rich, rare and racy. It appeared from the testimony that the plaintiff and defendant had both loved the same young lady, and as neither was willing to give up to his rival, they had concluded to "fight it out." The jury seeing these to be the facts in the case discharged the defendant.

Important Sale.—Mr. F. J. Taylor has sold his beautiful residence on North Main street, to Mr. W. T. Wells. The price paid is supposed to be about nine thousand dollars. This is one of the most expensively finished dwellings in town, and the exterior appearance and southern to be taken before Judge. The church yesterday was well attended. At about half-past two the church was well filled, and the Rev. D. P. Bunn, commenced an able and impressive personal discourse of almost an hour's length, which was listened to with the closest attention. At its conclusion the body was taken to Greenwood cemetery for interment, and was followed to its last resting place by a large number of friends and acquaintances.
